MEMORANDUM FOR: THE RECORD

SUBJECT : PSB Plans D-7e and J-19d

1. A meeting was held with [] PSB, on 9 March 1953, to discuss the CIA implementation of the above-named plans and to consider whether these two plans require any further major revisions.

2. It was agreed that CIA is now implementing the contingency preparations set forth in the CIA support plan to the extent of its present capabilities.

3. [] has made known the following CIA clarifications:

a. That the original task set forth in [] for CIA; namely, that covert operations should be increased in the event of a truce is unrealistic. This decision was reached as the result of a field trip and study, and it was found that a truce situation would probably result in a decrease in CIA's covert effectiveness.

b. That in the event of a full-scale renewal of hostilities CIA will assist combat operations to the greatest extent possible with the proviso that such assistance will not impair future operations.
